HELP AFTER HURRICANE HARVEY

We've all seen the horrifying images of people wading through rushing flood waters, or stranded on roofs, or climbing onto boats in order to escape their flooded homes. Texas has never seen so much water from a storm. The damage is catastrophic.

Neighbors and strangers alike are helping each other in any way they can, but the needs are still too great for Texans to handle on their own. They desperately need your help.

Your offering today is crucial to helping storm survivors who are least likely to receive adequate assistance in recovering from Hurricane Harvey. Your gift will help. We're helping now, and we'll still be helping after the initial, emergency response is done, but when there are still so many needs. Your support will make that long-term effort possible.

RCA Global Mission is teaming up with World Renew Disaster Response Services to prepare for the rebuilding effort that lays ahead. To meet immediate needs, we've sent an initial financial gift to Christ the Redeemer Community Church, an RCA church plant in Houston, to help provide food and shelter for those in urgent need in their neighborhood. We're also sending resources for another church plant, Carismah Church in Katy, Texas, to provide food, water, and shelter to displaced families nearby. At this point, the best ways for you to help are to pray and to give to the recovery effort.
